Let's write poems about rocks and geology

You can write a poem in any style:

Rhyming:

Minerals make up a rock—
Lots of different kinds.
Let's look closely at each one,
And see what we can find.

Haiku (3 lines; 5-7-5 syllables per line)

Some rocks come from heat, (5)
Formed from magma long ago. (7)
Glad I wasn't there! (5)

Free verse: (no rhyme needed; as many lines and syllables as you want.)

1) How the Earth's crust moves
And changes the shape of the land
Is such a mystery to me.

2) Some people think rocks
Are boring.
But I like to look at the colors
And imagine
How it all came together.

Name poem:

OBSIDIAN

On Hawaiian beaches
Black
Sharp edges
Instant cooling (almost)
Dark and glassy
Igneous
Artistic
Nighttime color

Cinquain (sin-kane) (five lines; 2-4-6-8-2 syllables per line)

Ocean (2)
Floors receive sand (4)
And tiny bits of shell. (6)
Time and pressure, time and pressure. (8)
Sandstone. (2)
